

RUPERT BOYD, CLASSICAL GUITARIST

New York-based Australian classical guitarist Rupert Boyd has been described by Gramophone as "a very fine musician," by The Washington Post as "truly evocative," and by Classical Guitar Magazine as "a player who deserves to be heard." His performances have taken him across four continents, from New York's Carnegie Hall, to festivals in Europe, China, India, Nepal, the Philippines, New Zealand and every state and territory in Australia.

"Remember the name Rupert Boyd. While there may never be another classical guitarist like Segovia, this young Australian left his audience with the impression that someday there may not be the likes of him again, either."

- The Washington Post
